PrO UNLIMITED LEADS THE WAY IN BRINGING SOW/PROJECT WORKERS INTO MANAGED PROGRAMS

BOCA RATON, FL: January 27, 2010, PrO Unlimited, Inc., a global provider of vendor neutral contingent workforce management solutions, was recently cited in a Staffing Industry Analysts study as having the most SOW/Project spend under management of all the industry's Master Services Providers. PrO's clients enjoy SaaS deployment of the WAND technology to capture, manage and report on this often elusive segment of the contingent workforce, offering PrO clients a much more comprehensive view of their entire contingent workforce spend. This increased visibility allows clients to better drive cost savings and efficiency improvements within this segment of their workforce.

"We've always believed that in order to truly manage a large contingent workforce for our clients, we must capture more than just the traditional staff augmentation workers. Most managed programs are limited to capturing and reporting on just traditional temp workers or staff augmentation workers," said Terrie Weinand, COO. Statement of Work and project workers represent a large portion of the contingent spend for most Fortune 500 companies, and yet the majority of these companies have Vendor Management programs in place that exclude the majority, if not all, of this spend.

"Companies that have visibility to the entire spectrum of labor engagements in one central VMS/MSP program, have a clear advantage over their competition," said Weinand. These companies are best positioned to drive cost savings, achieve quality efficiencies and promote compliance within their programs. "It's our intention, at PrO Unlimited, to promote best in class programs by providing our clients with the tools and business intelligence to achieve their business goals."
