PrO UNLIMITED INTEGRATES WITH ORACLE'S IPROCURE PUNCHOUT AT LEADING TECHNOLOGY FIRM

BOCA RATON, FL: October 15th, 2009: PrO Unlimited announced another successful integration, this time with Oracle's iProcure. "PrO's WAND system is live with iProcure's punchout module, which allows our customers maximum flexibility in managing their services procurement process," said PrO's COO, Terrie Weinand.

PrO's WAND was early on the scene in providing web-based technology to manage large, multi-national companies' contingent workforces. Today WAND is used across the world to procure, manage and track contractors, consultants and temp workers, for a who's who of Global companies. "The iProcure punchout demonstrates PrO's continued focus on ensuring WAND is the industry's cutting edge VMS. Based on the number of years we've been providing these solutions and an impressive employee retention record, we have what we believe to be the most tenured integration team in the industry. This experience gives clients comfort that systems integrations will be smooth and efficient," said Weinand.
